

TAYLOR BOLOGNA

Taylor Bologna practices in the areas of maritime law, general litigation, and oilfield contractual defense and indemnity. He represents both U.S. and foreign vessel owners in a variety of marine and commercial matters, including claims brought under the Jones Act, the Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act, and the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act; contractual indemnity and insurance disputes; vessel collisions/allisions; property damage claims; charter party disputes; wave wash/surge claims; and cargo loss claims. Taylor also has significant experience conducting onboard marine casualty investigations of both "brown water" and "blue water" ocean-going vessels.

Prior to joining Phelps, Taylor worked with the in-house legal team at an international marine transportation and oilfield services company.

Taylor earned his J.D. from Loyola University New Orleans College of Law in 2017.
