

BIOGRAPHY

UNITED STATES COAST GUARD

LIEUTENANT Charles E. Richardson

Lieutenant Charles E. Richardson currently serves in the Office of International Maritime Law, Prevention Law Division (CG-LMI-P) at Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, D.C. His responsibilities include providing legal advice to the Assistance Commandant for Prevention Policy, as well as to Headquarters prevention programs and District staffs.

Prior to this assignment, LT Richardson earned his Juris Doctorate with Order of the Barrister from the University of Maryland School of Law. During his time at UMD Law, LT Richardson held the position of President of the Moot Court Board and spent a semester practicing law in the low income tax payer clinic. LT Richardson also externed at the Center for Health and Homeland Security and in this line of interest received a certificate in cybersecurity and emergency management law from UMD Law. LT Richardson also interned at Coast Guard Headquarters in the Office of Military Justice (CG-LMJ).

Prior to law school, LT Richardson earned a Bachelor's of Science in Finance and Real-Estate at Indiana University, Kelley School of Business. While at IU, he rode in the Little 500; the country's largest amateur bike race.

LT Richardson was born and raised in New Jersey and remains an avid NJ Devils fan. He is barred in the state of New Jersey. LT Richardson resides in Washington, DC.

