

- Dieter Schwampe is a practicing maritime and marine insurance lawyer with 39 years of experience. He used to be partner of the German law firm of ARNECKE SIBETH DABELSTEIN (ASD) until the end of the last year and is now Of Counsel with the firm. For 14 years he was the President of the German Maritime Law Association, and he is completing his second term as Vice-President of the Comité Maritime International (CMI) end of May in Gothenburg. Also he was for 12 years member of the Legal & Liability Committee, and currently is a member of the Salvage Forum, of the International Union of Marine Insurance (IUMI). Dieter advises in all areas of insurance, specifically maritime insurance law (drafting of terms, cover issues, legal representation, recourse actions) and maritime law (collisions, salvages, general average, charter parties, bills of lading), and transportation law (road, air, inland water transport). He is regularly appointed as arbitrator and the author of numerous articles and books. Since 2010 he teaches marine insurance law at Hamburg University, which has appointed him professor in 2012.

- Oliver Behrendt has vast operational inhouse experience. Oliver worked several years as general counsel of a large German group of shipyards where he also acted as managing director for a separate profit center. Besides maritime law, his main area of advice is focused on drafting and negotiating complex agreements such as shipbuilding contracts (e.g. jack-up, cruise or autonomous vessels) or supply contracts for offshore wind industry as well as M&A transactions.
