

Susan currently oversees the global marine recoveries at AIG for both the commercial and consumer lines of business.

Prior to joining AIG, Susan was a partner at Donovan Parry McDermott & Radzik handling civil litigation cases concentrating in transportation and insurance litigation.

Susan is active in the maritime and marine insurance field, both domestically and internationally. She served as a Director of The Maritime Law Association of the United States from 2011-2014. She is currently the Chair of Carriage of Goods Committee of The Maritime Law Association of the United States. She served as Treasurer of NYMAR in its early formative years. She is a regular speaker at different maritime conferences. She has also served for many years as a Brief Judge for the Annual Judge John R. Brown Admiralty Moot Court Competition.

She is rated AV Preeminent by Martindale-Hubbell.

She is admitted to practice law before the United States Supreme Court, the Court of International Trade, and in Federal and State Courts of New York and New Jersey.

In 2013 Susan became a member of the Irish Maritime Law Association.