

Rear Admiral John Crowley USCG (retired) has been the Senior Vice President for Law and Regulatory Affairs with APM Terminals Americas since July of 2008. Americas Region has responsibility for 17 marine container terminals and 40 inland services facilities. He is the General Counsel, and has corporate leadership responsibility for Compliance Assurance as well as Safety, Security and Environmental policy matters. He came to APM Terminals from the U.S. Coast Guard. While serving at Flag Officer rank he had a succession of support and operational assignments at the Department of Homeland Security, the Ninth Coast Guard District and Coast Guard HQ including service as the Judge Advocate General. He completed 33 years on Active Duty in May of 2008.